

LUND
UNIVERSITY

Dr. Packiam T. Samuel

Director of the Henry Martin Institute (HMI), Hyderabad, India:

Living and Working with World Religions

JOINT SEMINAR AT CTR | WITH GLOBAL CHRISTIANITIES, HISTORY OF RELIGIONS, AND ISLAMIC STUDIES

Dr. Packiam T. Samuel holds a PhD in Christian Muslim Relations from Westminster College, Oxford and is the editor of Awakening to the Immensity of the Mystery, 2020 on practice in inter-religious relations and Rumours of Angels. History, Ideas and Future Directions in Christian-Muslim Relations. He is also the secretary general of the Interfaith Coalition for Peace, a secular Indian non profit organization.

The Henry Martin Institute is an ecumenical Christian institute dedicated to studying and teaching religions and promoting interfaith relations and reconciliation. Since its founding in 1930, HMI has established a long record of teaching and research, with an ever-widening circle of research scholars from India and abroad, who use the Institute's facilities for Master's, Doctoral and Post-Doctoral research. HMI is for its degrees affiliated with the Senate of Serampore University.

Friday, September 13, 10:15 - 12:00
Room: LUX:B417

